

Highest Point Of Contribution

© Morton after McKeown

Highest Point of Contribution

- What is the contribution you are seeking to make?
- What is the impact you are seeking to achieve?
- Fundamentally what is important?

Right Thing (What)

- What is your 'thing' specifically?
- What gets your pulse racing?

Right Reason (Why)

- What is your intention now?
- What is your impulse now?
- What are your drivers now?
- What are the values you hold which are seeking to be manifest?

Right Fit (How)

- What do you need to consider to ensure the right fit?
- What are your needs? e.g. family commitments, health considerations, desire for more responsibility
- What skills, strengths, knowledge do you bring?
- What are the opportunities that are emerging that might align?

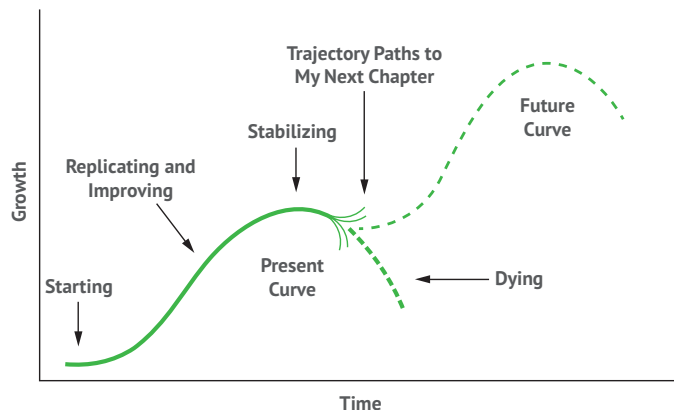

Theoretical Models

Reflection Wheel

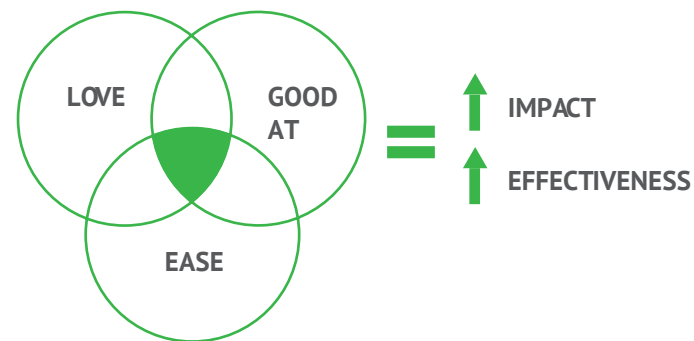

S-Curve Theory

Everett M. Rogers Diffusion of Innovations (1963)

Impact & Effectiveness Model

Johari Window Model

Essentialism

Greg McKeown, Essentialism, The Disciplined Pursuit of Less

EQ Model

© Daniel Goleman

